Wool Knee Breeches

Front fall knee breeches were worn almost universally from the mid-18th century up through the early 1800's. Made from 100% wool, with buttons arranged on the front fall and along the knees to match historic examples. The seat is correctly full cut in order to provide adequate room when sitting, and the back is gusseted and laced for extra adjustment. Our knee breeches also feature period correct front pockets, along with knee bands to be used with buckles if desired.

Sizes available: 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46

Buffalo Robes

We have culled out a limited number of hides that do not fit the specifications of our select bison robes. Not all robes are used for display. Many crafters use buffalo robes for numerous projects. Knowing this, we would like to offer them to you at a significant discount.

These second quality hides are being sold at a massive discount. There are defects such as bald patches, holes, blemishes, and stiff sections around the neck area. Still makes good tipi flooring and can be used for numerous projects.

All hides are full and measure the same as higher quality robes.

Second Quality

Elk Robes

These beautiful, plush hair-on Elk Robes are winter weight and softly tanned. They run about 20 square feet, measuring approximately 4 feet wide & 5 feet long, and are great for tipi living or home décor.

Gut Hafting Cordage

Gut Hafting Cordage is quite useful for "period" hafting. This is an ideal material for bowstrings and heavy sewing jobs. Gut Hafting is much more versatile than rawhide lacing. Moisten and use plain or secure with hide glue. Dries amber clear for an "old" primitive look. 20 foot roll.

1905-101-001 Reg $8.95 $7.61 Ea

White Garment Buckskin

Super soft & lighter weight than commercial buckskin, these hides are sueded on both sides, which is nice for garments & other craftwork. Similar in appearance to brain tan, the white hides are like unsmoked, while the natural is the color of smoked. Average size is 7-9 square feet, so we may substitute if these sizes are not available.

Traveling Candlesticks

Called 'Brighton Buns' after the British pastry, these candle holders were a standard travel accessory from pre-Revolutionary days through the Civil War. They screw together into a compact unit that assembles into two brass candle stands. They are 3-3/4" in diameter, standing 2-1/2" tall when assembled and 1-1/4" closed.

Colonial Lantern

Here's a large tin lantern of a common style dating from before the Revolution. The size (15" H x 6-1/2" square) and glass panes throw a lot of light, while the hinged door gives quick access to change & light candles and for cleaning. The pierced chimney is typical of the period and provides good ventilation. Holds 9" candles, not included.

Ship Lantern

Here's another popular version of the authentic Paul Revere style. The 5" x 7" glass pane of this handsome lamp has the advantage of throwing a lot more light than one without. Although often used on ships, the all around illumination makes it great for camp or tent use. Just lift the glass for easy access to replace candles or to clean. Made of hand punched tin, crafted like the originals.

Size: 12"H x approx. 5" base. Holds 9" candles, not included.

Padre Beads

Made just like the old Padres, these great beads have a slight matte finish that gives a nice patina and are available in a wide range of opaque and old-time translucent colors. This extremely popular glass necklace bead with its characteristic, irregular shape, was the forerunner of the modern Crow bead. Beads are 7-10mm and strands contain approximately 75 to 80 beads. To complete item number, replace  with color number desired. (Some colors come in loose and should still come 75/80 beads per package.) T = Transparent

Gourd Shakers

The salt and pepper shakers on the market are too large for gourd rattles so we had the old type shakers made in the correct size. These are just like the old ones with screw-on lids, except there are no salt and pepper holes in them. 3" tall and 2" in diameter, they're the perfect size for gourd dance rattles.

Embroidered Cashmere Wrap

Beautifully designed and tightly woven cashmere wraps that are emboldened by a vibrant embroidered floral pattern. These wraps are designed to drape over the shoulders but could absolutely be used as a lady's dance apron. A very versatile garment that can be worn as a casual accessory, part of formal dress, or as an essential part of your dance regalia. Each wrap measures 72"x28" and has fringe on each end. Offered in seven distinct colors. To complete item number, replace  with desired color number.
