"Cross-L" Trade Scalper

Our scalper features a hand-forged, 7" tapered half-tang blade, stamped with the authentic "Cross-L" logo. Listed in Northwest Company shipping records, these were often referred to as "red handled knives".

Ours has a one-piece handle of genuine hardwood handle in reddish color, hexagonal in shape and tapered. The handle is held in place with two iron pins and the knife comes complete with a genuine leather sheath. Overall length is 11-1/2".

4926-003-003 Reg. $36.00 Ea $30.60 Ea

Bent's Fort Scalping Knife

This classic style knife appeared extensively during the fur trade period and found its way to virtually every corner of the West. The hardwood handle is set off by brass wire wrapping at either end making a well-balanced knife with a firm grip.

The knife is 11 1/2" overall, with a 7" long blade and "Snakebrand" maker's mark on the blades. Complete with a heavy leather sheath with incised designs.

4926-025-001 Reg. $36.00 $30.60 Ea

Cherokee Bowie Knife ca. 1830

One of the earliest Bowies, this popular style appears in some of the premier collections as well as in early paintings, including that of the famous Cherokee chief, "Tah-Chee", where it is prominently shown. The heavy, 8 1/2" blade is a full 3/16" thick with nice hardwood slab grips featuring a German silver inlaid plate, pins and wrapped pommel. Originally produced by Gravelly & Weeks in Sheffield, England in this massive, 14 1/4" overall length. The ornately fringed leather scabbard is patterned after the original.

4926-002-002 Reg. $49.00 $41.65 Ea

New Orleans Dirk with Sheath

The epitome of good, early American style, this strong dagger dates from the late 1700s. The brass guard forms a sweeping S-curve below the solid brass ferrule joining the walnut grip, with the entire assembly neatly riveted to the tang. Overall length is approximately 12", with a 3/8" thick, 7-1/4" long, double edged carbon steel blade. An incised, hand laced leather sheath is included.

4926-001-005 Reg. $39.00 Ea $33.15 Ea

Tennessee Belt Knife

This wicked looking scalper has a 7-3/4" long, tapered blade, still exhibiting a bit of the marks from hand forging. It features a Curly Maple handle with a pewter colored ferrule (guard) as shown. The round tang is attached with an iron washer at the butt end of the handle and peened to hold it securely in place. Overall length is 12-3/4" and a quality leather sheath is included.

Copperhead Rifleman's Knife

Long bladed knives were preferred by the riflemen and longhunters on the early Eastern frontier and this one fills the bill! Typical of many hand forged blades, this 8-1/2" slim, tapered one features a satin finish and some forging marks remaining. The genuine Curly Maple handle is fitted with a copper ferrule (guard) and secured to the round tang with an iron washer at the butt end of the handle with the tang peened in place to hold it. Furnished with its own fitted leather sheath, it is 13-1/2" long overall.

Spanish Belduque

Popular in the Southwest, Belduques were traded at places like Taos & Bent's Fort and are extremely versatile knives for use in camp & on the trail. Recreated from an original in the Museum of the Fur Trade, ours have an integral bolster (guard) and bone or horn grips pinned with iron rivets. Standard size has a 5-3/4" blade, just right for a small belt or utility knife and the "mini" has a 4" blade; perfect as a bag knife or 'eatin' tool. Both come with period correct, leather scabbards.

Czech Seed Beads

For loomwork, appliqué, edge beading, etc., these beads are highly preferred due to their uniformity of shape and size as well as the wide range of colors available. Strung beads are better quality, more uniform in size and easier to use than loose beads, so you will have fewer “culls” with these. Be sure to order plenty of beads in your background color as dye lots can have slight variations in color, even in white, so they may not match perfectly. Prices are for one color per kilo or 1/2 kilo and we recommend specifying a second choice if possible. Hanks are 24 strings 10” long. 2 strings = 1 loop.

 10/0 = 130/Square Inch; 3120/Hank  11/0 = 187/Square Inch; 4080/Hank

Deluxe Imitation Porky Hair

This great product is the perfect substitute for genuine porcupine guard hair, and it makes tying a roach faster and much less expensive. It is identical in color, with a tapered tip and base just like natural hair, so it looks just like the real McCoy. Extra long porcupine hair is hard to find and expensive nowadays, so this hair allows you to make a roach with very long front hair without breaking the bank. It is all 10" long, so the laborious tasks of cleaning, sorting and sizing the hair are eliminated, and you can simply trim the hair to the graduated lengths required and start tying! Due to the extra weight of our synthetic hair, almost double the weight is required compared to genuine porky hair. So, you should order 2-1/2 ounces for a 15" roach and 3 ounces for an 18" roach. The low price of this hair also makes it an ideal option for young or beginning craftworkers. Our experienced roach makers have had excellent results with this fine product, and their tips on use are included FREE with each order!

Straight Razor

Straight razor shaving is more popular now than it has been in the last 50 years. More and more men are wanting to learn this manly art. Our razors are made from genuine Damascus steel and measure 9" open (6" closed). Handles are exquisitely shaped from either horn or bone and have a brass lining to add to the aesthetic. This razor compares admirably to others that are ten times the price.

Gentleman's Straight Razor

This old-time straight razor is bargain priced and an authentic way to stay clean-shaven at Rendezvous. In addition to shaving (records show that most Mountain Men shaved), straight razors were often used to make patch knives.

Simply add an antler or wood handle to the high quality steel blade and you'll have both a razor AND a new patch knife! The blade is 3" long plus tang, and the razor measures 6" overall when closed. Handle colors are assorted.

Colonial Style Ragg Wool Gloves

Keep your hands warm and be period correct at the same time with our colonial style fingerless wool gloves. Made from ragg wool, these gloves are very appropriate for all types of events. Worn by the cavalry during the Indian Wars, this style glove quickly infiltrated into Indian villages because of their ease of use and warmth. This style dates back to England, and was also appropriate for colonial and frontier wear.

Traveling Candlesticks

Called 'Brighton Buns' after the British pastry, which they resemble when closed, these candle holders were a standard travel accessory from pre-Revolutionary days up through the Civil War. They screw together into a unique, compact unit that assembles into two attractive brass candle stands. Unusual and highly practical, no traveler, explorer or touring royalty was without them. Available in authentic, antique bronze finish, or hardwood with attractive decorative carving. They are 3-3/4" in diameter, standing 2-1/2" tall when assembled and 1-1/4" closed.

B Ring Brooches

A form of washer brooch, ring brooches were a popular trade item among the Northeastern and Prairie tribes as early as the 1700s when trade silver was introduced. Later, Indian silversmiths copied these when they began using German silver, so we are offering them in both sterling silver and German silver. Excellent for use in decorating blouses, shirts, blankets, skirts, capotes, etc.

Trekker Half Boots – Now Available in Black!!

We now have our popular Trekker Boots in Black! Also known as Riflemen's Boots or Half Boots, and later as Jefferson Boots, these classic boots are perfect for wear from the American Revolutionary period, the War of 1812 and throughout the Civil War. Very well made in black, rough out leather and lined in soft, natural calfskin, they are made in lefts and rights, making them more comfortable than straight last boots. Reinforced heel areas and heavy leather soles with pegged leather heels make these boots the ultimate in authenticity. Available in men's sizes 8 through 12, in D width. For half sizes or wider feet, order 1/2 size larger. Replace  with desired size

Braided Chainette Shawl Fringe

We're excited to introduce our brand new Braided Fringe in 14" long Chainette, the same material as our regular shawl fringe. We've had our most popular colors braided together to create a new effect for your dance shawl, resulting in vividly beautiful fringe that has never been offered before. The two-color combination braiding adds an extra dimension to your shawl, which is almost iridescent when viewed from a distance and is stunning up close! IMPORTANT USE NOTE: This fringe cannot be hand-tied like our standard Chainette or Spool Fringe, but is designed to be sewn on "as is". For example, 6-3/4 yards are required for a 60" square shawl.
